We Have Still Just a Few More Words to Say

ABOUT
THE
Jensen
PineriesOF
Jensen
Florida

WE HOPE THAT OUR readers as yet have not been foolish enough to part with their crops for a mere song. Some six weeks ago the writer went over the Pineapple Section thoroughly from Fort Pierce to Miami investigating every point. The facts of the matter are that 85 per cent of the entire Pineapple crop will be shipped between Stuart and Fort Pierce, inclusive, which shows you that YOU have the pines in your section and they are nowhere else. These conditions alone will tell you that it is not advisable to sell at $1.50 a crate this year, which is 10 cents a crate less than we averaged for all sizes last year, when there is only a small part of a crop. We would be glad to go over the matter thoroughly with you upon your request.

THE ABSTRACT PROPOSITION

gotten up and signed by a majority of the registered voters, when they are not posted on the full significance of the matter they are petitioning for; and when the matter was being discussed in Judge Jones' presence, he said, "I hope the people of St. Lucie county have too much good sense to go into the county abstracting scheme."

It is by discussing these matters of public policy with men of great experience and observation that I get these "surely bright original" ideas, and I would commend this practice to those who wish to get the benefit of the knowledge of men of affairs, men who are daily brought in touch with the perplexing questions of county and state affairs, for by such contact, they will have their views broadened and will also learn that a "bright original idea" is often gained from study and diligent investigation, while those not possessing "a bright original idea" are so possessed with their own pre-conceived views, that facts are held by them in contempt, and the opinion of the best authority, as a matter to be turned aside with derision. I do not make any pretensions to be more brainy than a great many of the good citizens of St. Lucie county, but I do claim that I take more interest in the things that effect the county's welfare, than a majority of them do. I do not deserve any credit for this, for it appeals to me as a duty. There are many people who are as anxious to see the county in good shape as myself, but they do not feel like coming out as I do and contending for what they know to be right, while with me, I cannot sit serenely by and see things going in a way that does not conserve the best interests of the county as a whole, and this abstract proposition is one of them; however, I have said about all that I intend to say on the subject; if the commissioners think they are justified in going into it, upon their heads will rest the results, not mine. I have presented the matter from my point of view, and from the point of view of others who realize the weakness of the proposed plan. I talk plainly when I discuss such matters and if my earnestness of conviction makes those opposing me squirm and feel that I have indulged in "abuse," they must present facts that cannot be refuted. In conclusion I wish to say, that I am not responsible for this abstract matter getting into the newspapers. The grand jury, acting as a unit, made the protest. One of the county papers took the matter up editorially and started the discussion—then I stepped in and had my say—I would gladly have kept out of any controversy concerning the matter, but it developed that there was a feeling, which feeling cropped fully out by the insinuation that the grand jury presentment was a "political document,"—then I went after the editorial department and spent a few drops of ink in expressing my views, and I hold myself in readiness to do so whenever the occasion presents itself; I acted on the defensive, not on the aggressive—hence, have no apologies to make for Mr. Fultz's insinuation that, "I think we have had enough of criticism and abuse on the abstract question." We see these things from a different point of view. I have no fault to find in or with a man for his convictions on any given subject, but I have a right to draw my own conclusions as to what prompts a man's convictions on any subject that he espouses or opposes. Sometimes they may be "patriotism," or perhaps there may be a selfish interest by which he allows himself unconsciously to be led to view things from a standpoint not altogether consistent with the best public interest.
As a direct financial beneficiary of the abstract scheme, delicacy should have prompted Mr. Fultz to have allowed some one else to have made his "Appeal to Patriotism," but his anxiety overcame his good judgment, and in his great distress he sends up a prayer with the sweet refrain of, "Help, help or else I perish."
